

Shugard, Louise D. - S.P.C.A. - 1928-

will be held Saturday night in the club house. Forty members of the mixed bowling group will attend. There also will be a bridge and a ping pong tournament. Guy D. Potter is in charge of arrangements for the dinner, assisted by Mrs. Elmer Tutill Jr., Mrs. Harry Broach, Mrs. Richard Hahne and Mrs. Potter. R. J. Bryan will have charge of the ping-pong tournament.

Other events at the club include a dance May 16 and a dessert bridge May 17. Prizes for the season for the women bowlers will be awarded May 8 at a luncheon and bridge Mrs. Harry E. Broach as in charge of the arrangements.

To Fete Committee

Members of her Newark Centennial women's committee will be entertained at a meeting and tea tomorrow by Miss Louise Shugard of 84 Clinton avenue. The group planned the women's Centennial luncheon April 16 at the Robert Treat.

Those present will include Mrs. Harrison Sayre Higbie, Mrs. G. Lovel Parker, Mrs. Roger Young, Mrs. William Hamilton Osborne Jr., Mrs. George Barker, Mrs. Samuel Illingworth, Mrs. Rodney Saylor and Mrs. James Ardern.

Nuttlev

us. Unack transactions during the month were only $1 per cent above 1928, against a year-to-year gain of 13.0 per cent in July and 18.3 per cent in June.

SEP 21 1936 Women's Chest Unit Is Meeting Today

Mrs. George Barker, who has succeeded Miss Louise Shugard as chairman of the women's division of the Community Chest campaign, today called a meeting of her lieutenants at 4 P. M. at chest headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Mrs. Barker said she would discuss problems of procedure, personnel and operation with district chairmen of the women's division. She expressed confidence the division would gain its quota of the $225,000 campaign goal. The drive will be held November 16 to 23.

Mrs. Barker returned over the week-end from Washington, where she was a delegate of the Welfare Federation of Newark to the 1936 Mobilization for Human Needs.

THE NEWARK LEDGER, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER

HOW THEY WON

By JAMES V. YARNALL

Babies, animals and Newark. These three are the closest to the heart of the woman who stands in the first rank of those who have served their community.

And it would be hard for Miss Louise Shugard to decide which occupies the nearest circle next to that big heart of hers.

For the past several years the creation of Newark, chairman this year, for the seventh time, of the Women's division of the Community Chest campaign, president for 20 years of the East Side Day Nursery and founder of its shelter for "mother" mothers, president of the Friendly Neighborhood House, chairman of the Women's Crusade for Newark, president of the Humane Society of New Jersey, Newark Girl Scout Commissioner and board member of numerous social welfare agencies, Miss Shugard devotes her days to the promotion of worthy causes with an enthusiasm and energy that has again and again been an inspiration to others discouraged by adverse conditions.

RESPOND TO APPEAL

A member of a family that has lived in Newark more than a century, Miss Shugard will not permit her native city to be criticized unfavorably in her hearing. As she has often said at Community Chest meetings, she loves Newark, she has faith in it and she believes in its people—believes in them so firmly that she cannot doubt that they will respond to the appeal of its agencies.

These agencies, she points out, are a part of the Newark she loves and in serving them she is serving the city.

So perhaps, after all, Newark is

LOUISE SHUGARD

nearest her heart as it encompasses all those other interests of hers.

But when it comes to individual youngsters, Miss Shugard will claim that she hears responds with the greatest warmth to the helpless cries of the infants down at the day nursery and to the forlorn whines of stray animals.

Once a friend asked her, she had to choose, which would she take, her babies or her animals. She replied that her first choice was the needy youngsters. Then she added that the animals were possibly in greater need of a champion because no one would let a baby suffer but, while no one would want to see a dog suffer, he might look the other way if it were more convenient to do so.

WIDE ASSORTMENT

At Miss Shugard's home at 84 Clinton avenue—the lives today in the same house in which she was born—there is a wide assortment of pets, dogs and cats and the like that wandered around without a unit she befriended them.

Miss Shugard is known as one of the best organizers in the city and it is her ability in getting things started and keeping them going as well as her sympathy towards want in any form which has caused her support to be solicited whenever a welfare movement is put forward.

They always give her a loud cheer when she appears at a Community Chest campaign rally, and they know that she and the women under her are going to do their part in the drive.

There are about 700 women working under her in the present camaign, which will open officially next Thursday night. They are determined to come out the winners again in the friendly contest staged each year between their division and that of the men, headed by Joseph A. Hurley.

For the past two years the women have outdone the men in obtaining their quota. The report has gone out that the men insist they will not be licked this year, but Miss Shugard and her contingent say, "We'll see about that."

SEVERED ON COMMITTEE

When the first Community Chest drive was put on in 1914, Miss Shugard served on the women's committee and has served in every drive since then with two exceptions. Certainly no one knows better than she the needs of the 51 agencies affiliated with the federation and aided by the Chest and no one is more confident than she that Newark will answer their appeal.

"My workers, God bless them," she recently said, "have never been more enthusiastic. I think it is because every one has a better realization today of the absolute necessity of helping the private relief agencies in their great work."

Humane Societies Head Q. 1 Entertains Board Members

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey, entertained the executive board of the late Dr. Charles J. Kipp at her home, 84 Clinton avenue, yesterday afternoon. Twelve of the trustees were present. The chairman of the shelter committee, Mrs. Mary of the Bachman, reported that during the month of December 2,000 animals passed through the shelter, including a fox and an alligator.

The annual meeting of this society will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Board of Education building, 31 Green street. Reports will be presented by chairmen of the various committees. The general public is invited to attend the meeting.

Infirmary to Hold Exercises

In Memory of Dr. C. J. Kipp Memorial exercises to commemorate the services of the late Dr. Charles J. Kipp, founder of Newark Eye and Ear Infirmary, will be held at the infirmary at 8:30 Sunday afternoon. Dr. Kipp died twenty years ago. Representatives will be present from other institutions. Dr. Kipp was instrumental in founding or developing 71 hospitals.

Humane Societies

Discuss Campaign

Membership Drive Is Topic at Annual Meeting of Annual Aid Group

Plans for a membership campaign were discussed at the annual meeting of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey last night at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue. The group decided to establish a junior unit.

More than 13,000 dogs and cats were cared for last year at the society's shelter, 124 Evergreen avenue, as shown by the report of the office manager, Edgar C. Crilley. Of these, 9,254 were from this city. The others were from Kearny, Irvington, Hillside, Belleville, Harrison and Nutley, communities served by the organization.

Other services were given, such as the rescue of dogs and cats caught between walls and cats in trees and on poles. Other stray and injured birds and animals in parks and streets were also rescued. The shelter clinic was reported by the veterinarian, Dr. John J. Devine, who stated 685 animals were treated.

Tells of Follow-Up Work Mrs. William A. Bender of the shelter committee told of follow-up work on dogs given out. Dogs are no longer given approval unless an investigation of the homes offered. The treasurer, Miss Bessie M. Baldwin, reported receipts of $11,464 and a balance of $382.

Members of the board re-elected were David Stoffer, this city; Dr. Miss Sarah Willis, Miss Barbara Klein and Lewis Teed, East Orange. These officers were re-elected: an executive meeting Wednesday. President, Miss Shugard; first vice president, Mrs. E. M. Binsel, East Orange; second vice president, Mrs. F. N. Snodgrass, East Orange; third vice president, Mrs. Emma Freeman, Bloomfield; treasurer, Miss Baldwin. East Orange; recording secretary, Mrs. R. E. Willis, Newark, and corresponding secretary, Miss Sarah Willis.

Take Posts in Chest Drive

Miss Louise Shugard and Henry Vliet Again Will Lead Division

Two Newark Community Chest veterans, who have established records in campaign work, will resume their places at the head of the individual subscriber division in the drive which opens November 16. Miss Louise Shugard yesterday agreed to accept for the third year chairmanship of the women's corps, and Henry Vliet again assumed command of the men's corps.

The chairman conferred at campaign headquarters with Ralph E. Lum, chairman of the executive committee, and approved preliminary plans. "For several years," Miss Shugard said in accepting the appointment, "the women were shut out of the Community Chest campaign. It is significant that the drive is the greatest strides in the last two years, when the women were definitely included. They not only held their own with the men, but many times in the women's division obtained better results."

The individual subscriber division this year will conduct a school to instruct district chairmen and team captains in the work of the agencies which comprise the chest, as well as in campaign technique. The individual subscriber division is the largest in the campaign, its complement of two corps, each having ten districts, with a total of 1400 teams, headed by a captain and 1,400 volunteer workers. The division is responsible for the city-wide solicitation of up to $500.

By plans approved yesterday there will be no division chairman as in former years. As past chairmen Miss Shugard and Mr. Vliet will have equal authority and will be responsible only to the chairman of the executive committee.

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey, was elected fourth vice president of the S. P. C. A. last night by the executive committee. Preceding this action, she was made an active member of the association at the regular meeting of the association in Halsey Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey, was elected fourth vice president of the S. P. C. A. last night by the executive committee. Preceding this action, she was made an active member of the association at the regular meeting of the association in Halsey Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey, was elected fourth vice president of the S. P. C. A. last night by the executive committee. Preceding this action, she was made an active member of the association at the regular meeting of the association in Halsey Methodist Episcopal Church.

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey, was elected fourth vice president of the S. P. C. A. last night by the executive committee. Preceding this action, she was made an active member of the association at the regular meeting of the association in Halsey Methodist Episcopal Church.

Humane Societies

Discuss Campaign JAN 10 1940

Membership Drive Is Topic at Annual Meeting of Animal Aid Group

Plans for a membership campaign were discussed at the annual meeting of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey last night at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue. Miss Shugard decided to establish a junior unit.

More than 13,000 dogs and cats were cared for last year at the society's shelter, 124 Evergreen avenue, as shown by the report of the office manager, Edgar C. Criley. The others were from Kearny, Irvington, Hillside, Belleville, Harrison and Nutley communities served by the organization.

Other services were given, such as the rescue of dogs and cats caught between walls and cats in trees and on poles. Other stray and injured birds and animals in parks and streets were cared for. Work of the shelter clinic, reported by the veterinarian, Dr. John J. Devine, who stated 685 animals were treated.

Tells of Follow-Up Work

Mrs. William A. Bender, of the shelter committee told of follow-up work on dogs given out. Dogs are no longer given applicants without investigation of the homes offered.

The treasurer, Miss Beattie M. Baldwin, reported receipts of $71,464 and a balance of $345. Members of the board re-elected were David Stoffer, this city; Dr. Devine, Orange; Miss Baldwin, Miss Sarah Willis, Miss Barbara Klein and Lewis Teed, East Orange.

Officers were re-elected at an executive meeting Wednesday: President, Miss Shugard; first vice president, Mrs. E. M. Bernal, East Orange; second vice president, Mrs. P. N. Snelling, East Orange; third vice president, Mrs. Emma Freedman, Bloomfield; treasurer, Miss Baldwin, East Orange; recording secretary, Mrs. R. E. ...

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Colleen of 251 North Seventh street, Colham of 251 North Seventh street, including: vice president, Mrs. W. C. Connett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. McCollum; recording secretary, Miss Claire L. Hicks, and treasurer, Miss Beattie Baldwin. Four new members were admitted.

The society cared for 1,133 animals at the shelter at 124 Evergreen ave. last month. It was reported that last month it was reported that 144 cats and 144 out-of-town and ten cats and 144 out-of-town cats were rescued from trees and two were rescued from walls. A clinic has been conducted at the shelter Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays afternoon of each week, where treatments were given to an average of twelve animals each afternoon. Dr. E. L. Baldwin is in charge.

Officers Re-elected, Reports Read By Friendly Neighborhood Trustees

Officers were re-elected yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Reports for the year covered the activities of the nursery, the meetings held at the neighborhood house and welfare work in families. As the end of the year there were thirty-two children on the nursery register, representing twenty-five families. Fees collected for the year amounted to $298.17. The institution was open 240 days and 16,800 meals were served. The children have been given medical supervision and during the year a violent limp was installed. Meetings of neighborhood organizations totaled 664, with an aggregate attendance of 7,852. Many of these were for boys and girls including scout or童子军 groups. Meetings for mothers and other adult groups also have been held.

In addition to these meetings, families have been visited and in cases referred to agencies adapted to meet the need. One of the clubs known as the Industrial Department has been organized for the Red Cross and 300 stockings for a children's Christmas party and distributed fifty-five baskets of food. At the party 350 children were given fruit, candy and other gifts. During the summer vacation a Bible school was held daily for 150 children. Many other activities were reported.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Nursery Reports Greater Service

East Side Baby Shelter Gave 2,000 More Days' Care in 1939, Report Says

The East Side Day Nursery and Baby Shelter gave 2,000 more days of service in 1939 than in the previous year, it was reported yesterday at the annual meeting of the Welfare Federation agency by Mrs. Grace O. Duryea, superintendent. Miss Louise Shugard, federation vice president, was re-elected president of the nursery.

Mrs. Duryea said 309 children, representing 225 families, used the agency in 1939. A total of $19,370 was expended against receipts of $18,441. More than half the receipts came from the federation through the annual Community Chest drive. Mrs. Duryea said.

Mrs. Duryea declared that "for the first time since the depression began, working conditions have been better. Work for women has gone up appreciably and more have gone back to their seasonal jobs."

Mrs. Duryea said 309 children, representing 225 families, used the agency in 1939. A total of $19,370 was expended against receipts of $18,441.

More than half the receipts came from the federation through the annual Community Chest drive. Mrs. Duryea said.

Mrs. Duryea declared that "for the first time since the depression began, working conditions have been better. Work for women has gone up appreciably and more have gone back to their seasonal jobs."

To Head Units In Chest Drive

Joseph A. Hurley Will Lead One Group of Men; Miss Shugard, Women's Corps

Joseph A. Hurley, division commander of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, today accepted the chairmanship of the men's corps of the individual subscriber division of the forthcoming Newark Community Chest campaign.

Miss Louise D. Shugard agreed to serve as a third term chairman of the women's corps. Both chairman and co-chairman of the men's corps of the campaign headquarters with Ralph E. Lum, chairman of the campaign, who outlined his plans for the management of the division.

Mr. Hurley succeeds Harry Vliet, who was men's chairman for two years. Mr. Vliet retired after the last campaign because of ill health.

Mr. Hurley's division will comprise the city's districts, subdivided into seventy sections, each under the supervision of a team captain, heading the men's corps. Its work will be largely confined to the business sections of the city and it will include the work of city and it will include the work of city and it will include the work of city

Last year the corps raised $125,000 from 4,925 subscribers. For this year, Hurley has a quota of $137,036.

Prospects of another spirited contest between the men's corps and the women's campaigners appeared when Miss Shugard promised that her group will again defeat the men in obtaining their quota. Last year the women topped the total of their quota, obtaining 116 per cent of their quota, while the men reached 115.6 per cent.

Humane Societies Present Reports

Activities of Shelter and Rabies Quarantine Outlined

Reports were presented last night at the annual meeting of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at the home of the president, Miss Louise Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue. Officers will be elected February 14.

Work of the shelter including extra activities undertaken in cooperation with the City Department of Health in connection with rabies last Summer, was reported by the superintendent, Edgar Criley.

One of the special activities was holding animals for observation. There were 432 dogs held and 13 cats. Most of these were returned to their homes after a quarantine period.

Animals picked up on the streets included 1,937 dogs. There also were 1,430 dogs and 658 cats brought in by persons not connected with the shelter. Shelter ambulances called for 2,633 dogs on request and 2,989 cats. A total of 443 dogs were deemed by owners.

Treasurer's Report

The report by the treasurer, Miss Beattie Baldwin of East Orange, showed the year's receipts of $18,441 and expenditures of $19,370.74.

Of the receipts the Community Chest furnished an allotment of $17,769.91 and the city $7,700. The treasurer also reported an allotment of $1,769.91 and the city $7,700.

Dr. J. J. Devine, veterinarian, who had charge of the clinic Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons at the shelter, 124 Evergreen avenue, described that work, telling of having treated 626 cases last year. The clinic is for animals owned by persons who cannot afford customary rates for such service.

Officers Re-elected, Reports Read By Friendly Neighborhood Trustees

Officers were re-elected yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Reports for the year covered the activities of the nursery, the meetings held at the neighborhood house and welfare work in families. As the end of the year there were thirty-two children on the nursery register, representing twenty-five families. Fees collected for the year amounted to $298.17. The institution was open 240 days and 16,800 meals were served. The children have been given medical supervision and during the year a violent limp was installed. Meetings of neighborhood organizations totaled 664, with an aggregate attendance of 7,852.

In addition to these meetings, families have been visited and in cases referred to agencies adapted to meet the need. One of the clubs known as the Industrial Department has been organized for the Red Cross and 300 stockings for a children's Christmas party and distributed fifty-five baskets of food. At the party 350 children were given fruit, candy and other gifts.

During the summer vacation a Bible school was held daily for 150 children. Many other activities were reported.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Humane Societies Present Reports

Activities of Shelter and Rabies Quarantine Outlined

Reports were presented last night at the annual meeting of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at the home of the president, Miss Louise Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue. Officers will be elected February 14.

Work of the shelter including extra activities undertaken in cooperation with the City Department of Health in connection with rabies last Summer, was reported by the superintendent, Edgar Criley.

One of the special activities was holding animals for observation. There were 432 dogs held and 13 cats. Most of these were returned to their homes after a quarantine period.

Animals picked up on the streets included 1,937 dogs. There also were 1,430 dogs and 658 cats brought in by persons not connected with the shelter. Shelter ambulances called for 2,633 dogs on request and 2,989 cats. A total of 443 dogs were deemed by owners.

Treasurer's Report

The report by the treasurer, Miss Beattie Baldwin of East Orange, showed the year's receipts of $18,441 and expenditures of $19,370.74.

Of the receipts the Community Chest furnished an allotment of $17,769.91 and the city $7,700. The treasurer also reported an allotment of $1,769.91 and the city $7,700.

Dr. J. J. Devine, veterinarian, who had charge of the clinic Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons at the shelter, 124 Evergreen avenue, described that work, telling of having treated 626 cases last year. The clinic is for animals owned by persons who cannot afford customary rates for such service.

Officers Re-elected, Reports Read By Friendly Neighborhood Trustees

Officers were re-elected yesterday at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Reports for the year covered the activities of the nursery, the meetings held at the neighborhood house and welfare work in families. As the end of the year there were thirty-two children on the nursery register, representing twenty-five families. Fees collected for the year amounted to $298.17. The institution was open 240 days and 16,800 meals were served. The children have been given medical supervision and during the year a violent limp was installed. Meetings of neighborhood organizations totaled 664, with an aggregate attendance of 7,852.

In addition to these meetings, families have been visited and in cases referred to agencies adapted to meet the need. One of the clubs known as the Industrial Department has been organized for the Red Cross and 300 stockings for a children's Christmas party and distributed fifty-five baskets of food. At the party 350 children were given fruit, candy and other gifts.

During the summer vacation a Bible school was held daily for 150 children. Many other activities were reported.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Miss Shugard Again Head Of Humane Societies Here

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Colleen of 251 North Seventh street, Colham of 251 North Seventh street, including: vice president, Mrs. W. C. Connett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. McCollum; recording secretary, Miss Claire L. Hicks, and treasurer, Miss Beattie Baldwin. Four new members were admitted.

The society cared for 1,133 animals at the shelter at 124 Evergreen ave. last month. It was reported that last month it was reported that 144 cats and 144 out-of-town and ten cats and 144 out-of-town cats were rescued from trees and two were rescued from walls.

A clinic has been conducted at the shelter Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays afternoon of each week, where treatments were given to an average of twelve animals each afternoon. Dr. E. L. Baldwin is in charge.

Miss Shugard Re-elected Neighborhood House Head

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Reports for the year covered the activities of the nursery, the meetings held at the neighborhood house and welfare work in families. As the end of the year there were thirty-two children on the nursery register, representing twenty-five families. Fees collected for the year amounted to $298.17. The institution was open 240 days and 16,800 meals were served. The children have been given medical supervision and during the year a violent limp was installed. Meetings of neighborhood organizations totaled 664, with an aggregate attendance of 7,852.

In addition to these meetings, families have been visited and in cases referred to agencies adapted to meet the need. One of the clubs known as the Industrial Department has been organized for the Red Cross and 300 stockings for a children's Christmas party and distributed fifty-five baskets of food. At the party 350 children were given fruit, candy and other gifts.

During the summer vacation a Bible school was held daily for 150 children. Many other activities were reported.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Colleen of 251 North Seventh street, Colham of 251 North Seventh street, including: vice president, Mrs. W. C. Connett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. McCollum; recording secretary, Miss Claire L. Hicks, and treasurer, Miss Beattie Baldwin. Four new members were admitted.

The society cared for 1,133 animals at the shelter at 124 Evergreen ave. last month. It was reported that last month it was reported that 144 cats and 144 out-of-town and ten cats and 144 out-of-town cats were rescued from trees and two were rescued from walls.

A clinic has been conducted at the shelter Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays afternoon of each week, where treatments were given to an average of twelve animals each afternoon. Dr. E. L. Baldwin is in charge.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the Friendly Neighborhood House, 199 Howard street, at the annual meeting held at the home of the president, Miss Louise D. Shugard, 84 Clinton avenue.

Miss Louise D. Shugard was re-elected president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey at a meeting of the executive board yesterday at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. McCollum, 251 North Seventh street.

Louise Shugard Quits Her Post In Chest Drive

Head of Women's Group
11 Years Replaced
by Mrs. Barker
SEP 20 1936

Mrs. George Barker of this city succeeds Miss Louise Shugard as head of the women's division of the Welfare Federation fund drive, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Frank Kingston, chairman of the Newark Community Chest campaign. Miss Shugard has resigned the post after 11 years' service.

Mrs. Barker is active in the community's welfare problems, serving as a district chairman in the women's division of chest campaigns for a number of years and as chairman of the women's crusade two years ago. She was a delegate of the Welfare Federation of Newark at the Mobilization of Human Needs at Washington last year and this.

Giving long service and the desire to give some one else the chance to lead the women's division as reasons for retiring, Miss Shugard said she was delighted that Mrs. Barker accepted the post. Mrs. Barker paid tribute to her predecessor for having built up one of the best money-raising units of the campaign. Miss Shugard issued the following statement:

"There isn't a better or more loyal group of workers in the Community Chest campaign than the women's division. I am retiring this year from the chairmanship because I feel I have served long enough and that this honor and privilege should be given to some one else who can do the work just as well as I have done it and probably better."

"Mrs. Barker's acceptance of the chairmanship is good news to me, as I have had the pleasure of being associated with her in other campaigns and know she has the ability and the enthusiasm to lead the division to success. I feel that the district chairman and workers will be happy to have her as their leader and that Mrs. Barker will find them as devoted and loyal to her as they were to me."

"The women's division of the chest campaign will begin its preliminary work fully conscious that in this year's reduced campaign goal and divisional quota there is a greater challenge to achieve their objective."

"Serving as chairman of this fine group for the first time, I am assured of the same loyalty which characterized their support of Miss Shugard in the many years she was their leader. I should like to pay tribute to my predecessor for having built up such a splendid organization with such high ideals for community service. It is my ambition to carry on her good work and maintain the standards set by these women."

"Conditions are improved to such an extent this year as to warrant the sincerity and determination with which the women's division goes to work to bound to result in raising their allotment and play an important part in attaining the grand total. I feel the women's division will lead all divisions in percentage of quota raised."

Women Named In Chest Drive

District Leaders and Volunteer Workers to Attend Educational Forum

Miss Louise Shugard, chairman of the women's division of the Newark Community Chest campaign, today announced her district chairmen and captains for the ten districts in which they will solicit funds. Mrs. Jack Meyer is divisional vice chairman and Miss J. Isabelle Sims secretary.

These leaders, with 750 volunteers under them, will attend an educational forum in the auditorium of the Community Chest Building tomorrow afternoon in the Griffith Building. Besides being active in the chest campaign, they are engaged in the Women's Crusade movement.

The chairmen and captains are:
District 1—Chairman, Mrs. Henry Young; District 2—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 3—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 4—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 5—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 6—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 7—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 8—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 9—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell; District 10—Chairman, Mrs. John Howell.

Shugard, Louise D. - S.P.C.A. - 1928-

Miss Shugard Is Whole-hearted in Devotion to Newark

Whenver the officialdom of Newark contemplates a community project requiring the leadership of a woman who will bring enthusiasm, tact, unbounded energy and the most expert generalship to the task, Louise Shugard, whom the late Mayor Raymond, once referred to as the most prominent woman in Newark, is slated for the job. Whenever one of the groups in which she is interested, and someone wants to be sure of immediate and definite action, she hears the suggestion that she call Miss Shugard, who never lets a detail escape her.

This ability to engineer the largest undertaking, and still have time for the small things, an amazing versatility and a whole-hearted interest in anything for Newark, combine to make Miss Shugard's services constantly in demand in scores of organizations. As a result, the presidency of the Newark Humane Society, the Day Nursery Association of New Jersey, the Friendly Neighborhood House for Colored: the vice-presidency of the Welfare Federation of Newark, the Music Foundation and the Silver Lake Community House, are a few of the offices which she keeps from being boring to Miss Shugard. Besides these, she is commissioner of the Newark Girl Nurses' Association, a member of the Visiting Society, a member of the Newark Auxiliary and on the executive board of the Friends Critique. Stated in the living room of her home on Clinton avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, one of those fine old houses which still hold their head high in spite of the encroachment of Newark's southern business district, Miss Shugard pointed with pride to the fact that she always has lived in Newark—"in this very house."

"Indeed," said she, "I sleep in the very room in which I was born. Our old family cook has rounded out forty years with us in this house for twenty-five years. As if to give further proof of her allegiance to Newark, she conspicuously spends a penny which I know will leave the city."

When asked how she manages to do so much work, she replied, "Why, this is not work for me. It is a joy to do things for those adorable babies down at the nursery and to meet with the other members of the board. And other members could be working about entering into Girl Scout activities and watching a community house grow? I would like a nursery house now."

To the person who first suggested to the name of Louise Shugard as one who might be induced to help with the start of this care, she replied, "After four years at St. Mary's Hall in Burlington, I returned to Newark with plans for a new day nursery. After four years at St. Mary's Hall in Burlington, I returned to Newark with plans for a new day nursery. After four years at St. Mary's Hall in Burlington, I returned to Newark with plans for a new day nursery."

Renamed as Head Of Friendly House

Miss Louise D. Shugard Is Renominated as President for 15th Year

Miss Louise D. Shugard was renominated for the 15th consecutive year as president of the Friendly Neighborhood House at the annual dinner-meeting of the organization last night at the house, 199 Howard street. Miss Shugard's resignation was refused several months ago.

The report showed: Luncheoners numbered 43,040; daily attendance, 260; aggregate attendance, 68,840; number of nursery children, 6,725; pre-school and school children cared for daily, 119.

Board members whose terms have expired were renominated. They are Rev. Dr. Charles Lee Reynolds, James R. Gibson, Mrs. Betty A. Lightfoot, Dr. Arthur Cole, Albert Cook and Mrs. Edna Rogers.

Shugard Memorial Fund Established

The Louise D. Shugard Memorial was established by the board of trustees of the Welfare Federation of Newark and West Hudson yesterday at its monthly meeting. John S. Thompson, president, announced that contributions may be made to the memorial and that the income will be applied to the operating expenses of local Community Chest agencies.

Miss Shugard, a former vice president of the Welfare Federation, died Saturday. She had been active in work for the Chest and its member agencies.

In announcing the memorial, Thompson said: "The establishment of the Louise D. Shugard Memorial can be truly a fitting memorializing forever the service of a great person to a great community."

Humane Societies Urges Pets

War-time protection of pet animals has not yet been given due consideration in Newark and its suburbs, it is felt by Miss Louise Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey. A study of the care of animals in air raids, as carried out in London and planned in several cities in this country, has been made by Miss Shugard, and she has appointed a committee in the humane organization to outline a definite program for safeguarding pets in possible disasters.

Miss Shugard is widely known for her leadership in several other personality beneath her. She recognizes the reflection of her individuality in all she does, whether it be the Welfare Federation of Newark, the East Side Day Nursery and Baby Shelter, of which she is president and founder, Girl Scouts, the humane societies or other activities.

Insisting as she does on practical working methods in all lines of work, there is yet a warm glow of personality beneath her efficiency programs that gives them life and color.

Menagerie
Miss Shugard is a true lover of animals and her own home is never without pets. Requiring them to be her splendid Chow, Mr. Wu, and also an unbelievably gorgeous macaw, named Macandoodle.

Her friends of long-standing and never forget her collie, Bruce, and Bill, the cat, who spent his nine happy lives in her home. These and other pets have played their parts in Miss Shugard's life and it is from first-hand experience that she has learned their capacity for affection and their dependence on human care. And out of her own experience has grown her interpretation of the psychology of animals.

In her work among animals, Miss Shugard bases her approach to them on the Biblical statement: "Perfect love casteth out fear." Her experience has been that animals she deals with respond in kind to the love and confidence she has in them.

Talking of her macaw, Miss Shugard tells that he was a fierce wild bird newly come from America when she purchased him. The man who sold him warned her not to touch him because of his savage disposition. However, after a few days of gentle care the macaw became devoted to her.

To Entertain Board

Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the board of governing directors of the Friendly Neighborhood House, will entertain board members at the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday at her home, 89 Clinton avenue.

This appreciation of animal psychology enters into her plans for the care of pets in air raids that she feels a calm, control-

Drew B. Peters.
MISS LOUISE SHUGARD

Miss Louise D. Shugard was renominated for the 15th consecutive year as president of the Friendly Neighborhood House at the annual dinner-meeting of the organization last night at the house, 199 Howard street. Miss Shugard's resignation was refused several months ago.

The report showed: Luncheoners numbered 43,040; daily attendance, 260; aggregate attendance, 68,840; number of nursery children, 6,725; pre-school and school children cared for daily, 119.

Board members whose terms have expired were renominated. They are Rev. Dr. Charles Lee Reynolds, James R. Gibson, Mrs. Betty A. Lightfoot, Dr. Arthur Cole, Albert Cook and Mrs. Edna Rogers.

NASH

Self-Storing
ALUMINUM COMBINATION
STORM & SCREEN
WINDOWS
and DOORS

Edmund Hill will serve on the board to fill vacancies.

rd, Louise D. -
A. - 1928-

rd Is Wholehearted in tion to Newark
DEC 2 1931

the executive board of the Florence Crittenton League.
Seated in the living room of her home on Clinton avenue, between Lincoln park and Thomas street, one of these fine old homes which still holds its head high in spite of the encroachment of Newark's southern business section, Miss Shugard pointed with pride to the fact that she always has lived in Newark—"in this very house."
"Indeed," said she, "I sleep in the room in which I was born in 1878. My family cook has rounded out forty years of service here, and the butter has been with us in this house for twenty-five years." As if to give further proof of her allegiance to Newark, she continued, "Why, every cent of my money goes to Newark. I never consciously spend a penny which I know will leave the city."

Joy To Work For Babies.
When asked how she manages to do so much work, she replied, "Why, this is not work for me. It is a joy to do for those adorable babies, and down the at the nursery and to meet with the other members of the board. And what could be more about entering into Girl Scout activities and watching a community house grow? I would give a community house to any woman today were it not for these interests which make every minute of my day worth while." The spirit with which she said this made very evident what people mean when they speak of Miss Shugard's conspicuous enthusiasm and her "unity to Newark."

To the person who first suggested the name of Louise Shugard as one who might be induced to help with the East Side Day Nursery goes the credit for the start of this career of service. According to Miss Shugard, "After four years at St. Mary's Hall in Burlington, I returned to Newark with plans for no more definite life than attendance at a series of parties, teas and dances. A call for help from the nursery got me into it. I have been at it ever since."
Miss Shugard has been eight years on the board of managers of the East Side Day Nursery, and has been largely responsible for its growth from a two-room house on Perry street, where it was organized twenty-six years ago, to its present quarters at 313 Elm street, which care for more than 100 children in its care, to the new, up-to-date nursery at 313 Elm street, which care for more than 100 children. There are at present eighteen on the nursery staff, and it is the only emergency shelter in the city, and the only shelter for colored children. It is a modern building of fourteen rooms, including playrooms, two diet kitchens, dining room, kitchen and root garden. On one side of the nursery is the nurses' home. The shelter is a place to which house babies who are likely to become permanent guests is a gift of Miss Shugard. It adjoins the nursery and even boasts every modern amenity. At present there are twenty-seven in the shelter house.

Active In Humane Society.
To read the history of the Associated Humane Society of New Jersey is to find further proof of Miss Shugard's energy, for she was largely responsible for the establishment of the society eight years ago in its present quarters at 124 Evergreen avenue. Presumably the work had been carried on as a private enterprise. Newark is well known for the fine work carried on here, and a recent feature that has gained much attention is the clinic, where dogs may be taken on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays by owners who do not feel able to pay for the veterinary attention their pets need.
One of the greatest thrills in this work came when, as Miss Shugard modestly recounted, she "helped secure the success of the bill ending the cruel practice of cutting the ears of certain breeds of dogs. The bill, which was passed last spring, called for labor day and night, and on one occasion, when Miss Shugard visited the Capitol, she was extended the privilege of both houses of the Legislature.
In the midst of this round of activities Miss Shugard has time for a lovely garden. She reads much, everything from light novels to philosophy. This is the way she relaxes. Much of her leisure time, however, is spent in extra visits to the institutions in which she is interested. She has no time for large social affairs, but is simply happy in her work, the meetings of her organizations proving anything but irksome. She manages to spend some time during the warm weather at her summer home in Avon.
In answering a question on the present needs of Newark, the great interest in the various organizations she leads so well again came to the fore when she replied "what Newark needs is a United Charities building, where the various societies can meet and concerts and other entertainments can be held." If the success of former projects in which Miss Shugard has been interested can be used as the basis for prophecy, the day is probably not far distant when this, too, will be a reality.

To Entertain Board
Miss Louise D. Shugard, president of the Board of Governors of the East Side Day Nursery, will entertain board members preceding the annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday at her home, 80 Clinton avenue.

NASH
Self-Storing
ALUMINUM COMBINATION
STORM & SCREEN
WINDOWS
and DOORS

Charles L. Luncheon
attendance, 69,940;
children, 6,723,
school children
whose terms
renominated.
Charles Leg
Gibson, M.
r. Arthur Cole,
Miss Margaret
on the board

Shugard Memorial Fund Established

The Louise D. Shugard Memorial fund was established by the board of trustees of the Welfare Federation of Newark and West Hudson yesterday at its monthly meeting. John S. Thompson, president, announced that contributions may be made to the memorial fund that the income will be applied to the operating expenses of local Community Chest agencies.

Miss Shugard, a former vice president of the Welfare Federation, died Saturday. She had been active in work for the Chest and its member agencies.
In announcing the memorial, Thompson said: "The establishment of the Louise D. Shugard Memorial can be only a token memorializing forever the service of a great person to a great community."

MAR 27 1931

Humane Societies Head
Urges Pets' Protection
SEP 25 1934

BY J. H. MORRIS
Warlike protection of pet animals has not yet been given due consideration in Newark and its suburbs, it is felt by Miss Louise Shugard, president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey. A study of the care of animals in air raids, as carried out in London and planned in several cities in this country, has been made by Miss Shugard, and she has appointed a committee in the humane organization to outline a definite program for safeguarding pets in possible air raids.
Miss Shugard is widely known for her leadership in welfare work. Those closely associated with her recognize the reflection of her individuality in all she does, whether it be the Welfare Federation of Newark, the East Side Day Nursery and Baby Shelter, of which she is president and founder; Girl Scouts, the humane societies or other activities.
Insisting as she does on practical working methods in all lines of work, there is yet a warm glow of personality beneath her efficiency programs that gives them life and color.

Menagerie
Miss Shugard is a true lover of animals and her own home is never without pets. Reizing there is yet a warm glow of personality beneath her efficiency programs that gives them life and color.
Her friends of long-standing will never forget her collie, Bruce, and other pets have played their parts in Miss Shugard's life and she has learned their capacity for affection and their dependence on human care. And out of her own experience has grown her interpretation of the psychology of animals.
In her work among animals, Miss Shugard bases her approach to them on the Biblical statement, "Perfect love casteth out fear."
Her experience has been that animals she deals with respond in kind to the love and confidence she has in them.
Talking of her macaw, Miss Shugard tells that he was a fierce wild bird newly come from South America when she purchased him. The man who sold him warned her not to touch him because of his savage disposition. However, after a few days of gentle care the macaw became devoted to her.

Resigns Newark
Girl Scout Post

Miss Louise Shugard Served as Council Commissioner Since 1930

The resignation of Miss Louise Shugard as commissioner of Newark Girl Scout Council was announced today by the executive board. She will be succeeded by Mrs. Richard Berkefeldt, who has been with the council since 1922.
Miss Shugard received her preliminary education in the Newark schools and then studied four years at St. Mary's Hall, Episcopal school for girls in Burlington.
After completing her course at St. Mary's, Miss Shugard returned to Newark and became interested in the East Side Day Nursery, which had been founded in 1906, and in a number of other civic movements.
She had been on the board of the day nursery since 1913. She was several years its president and donated the baby shelter adjoining the nursery to house babies who became permanent guests of the institution. She also served several years as president of the Day Nursery Association of Northern New Jersey.

Led Humane Societies

Miss Shugard was for many years president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey and was instrumental in establishing the organization as a public venture in 1923. It previously had been carried on as a private enterprise. In this capacity she was in charge of all Girl Scout activities. In 1921 she donated the first cabin for Newark Girl Scouts in South Mountain Reservation to the council.
Mrs. Berkefeldt first served as troop committee member in April, 1937, and became a member of the board in May, 1934. She was appointed deputy commissioner in May, 1935.

Miss Shugard
Dies at Home

Leader for Many Years in Varied Newark Civic Projects

Miss Louise Shugard, long a leader in welfare work in Newark, died yesterday in the house at 84 Clinton avenue where she was born and had lived her entire life. Her family had lived in Newark more than a century.
Miss Shugard was badly injured in an automobile accident six years ago, suffering a fractured left leg and right hip, and was forced thereafter to use crutches. Nevertheless she continued for some time to take an active interest in various civic organizations. She had elevators installed at her home here and at her summer home in Avon, and had telephones placed at strategic spots in both houses so that she could keep in touch with current happenings.
For five years after the accident she continued as commissioner of Newark Girl Scout Council, a position she had held since 1930. She resigned two years ago and the executive board named her honorary commissioner. She had been with the council since 1922.

MISS LOUISE D. SHUGARD

Miss Shugard received her preliminary education in the Newark schools and then studied four years at St. Mary's Hall, Episcopal school for girls in Burlington.
After completing her course at St. Mary's, Miss Shugard returned to Newark and became interested in the East Side Day Nursery, which had been founded in 1906, and in a number of other civic movements.
She had been on the board of the day nursery since 1913. She was several years its president and donated the baby shelter adjoining the nursery to house babies who became permanent guests of the institution. She also served several years as president of the Day Nursery Association of Northern New Jersey.

Led Humane Societies

Miss Shugard was for many years president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey and was instrumental in establishing the organization as a public venture in 1923. It previously had been carried on as a private enterprise. In this capacity she was in charge of all Girl Scout activities. In 1921 she donated the first cabin for Newark Girl Scouts in South Mountain Reservation to the council.
Mrs. Berkefeldt first served as troop committee member in April, 1937, and became a member of the board in May, 1934. She was appointed deputy commissioner in May, 1935.

for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and served as its vice president.

She was a former vice president of the Welfare Federation of Newark and for 11 years headed the women's division in the annual Community Chest campaign in the individual subscriber division.
Miss Shugard gave substantial sums to support the Friendly Neighborhood House and was president of its board of trustees for several years.

On Music Foundation
Other civic movements with which she was actively identified included the Newark Music Foundation, Silver Lake Community House, Visiting Nurse Association, Presbyterian Hospital Auxiliary and Florence Crittenton League.
She was a member of the citizens' committee of the Music Foundation when it was organized in 1927 and was chairman of the women's corps that year of the Presbyterian Hospital during the successful campaign to raise $1,000,000 for a new hospital building. She was a member of the women's committee during the Newark Centennial celebration in 1926. She also was active in Red Cross work.

For many years Miss Shugard advocated erection of a United Charities building in Newark, where various civic and philanthropic groups could meet and where concerts and other entertainments could be held.
Miss Shugard left no immediate survivors. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Shugard, Louise D. - S.P.C.A. - 1928-

Miss Shugard Leaves Nursery $25,000 a Year

Will Sets Up Annuity for East Side Day Unit.
Other Trusts Are Provided

The East Side Day Nursery will receive up to $25,000 a year and the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey $2,500 a year in annuities provided in the will of Miss Louise D. Shugard, Newark welfare leader, who died March 24.

The will was filed for probate today in Essex County Surrogate's Court.

Other charities named in the will are the Newark Girl Scouts and the Friendly Neighborhood House. Each will receive a bequest of $1,000.

The trust which Miss Shugard set up with the National State Bank of Newark as trustee also provided for payment of $2,500 a year to her cousin, Frederick Dodd Calloway of Orange, and upon his death to his daughter, Gertrude for the rest of her life.

Other Bequests

Individual bequests include $1,500 to James Whitber, Miss Shugard's butler, if still in her employ at the time of death; $1,000 each to Miss Cora Wooding, her maid; Frank Clayton, her chauffeur, and Miss Juliana Eitel of Newark Memorial Hospital, designated as a family nurse; $1,250 for care and maintenance of Carrie Jones, otherwise unidentified, and $500 to Miss Rose Sharon, nurse-attendant to Carrie Jones, and $500 to Miss Peace Determination, Miss Shugard's housekeeper.

Clayton, who served as Miss Shugard's chauffeur for approximately 35 years, also was left an annuity of $40 a week.

Miss Shugard directed that property she owned at 807-690 Broad street shall not be sold but that the income derived from it be used toward paying annuities provided in the will. The building is now occupied by McCrory's 5 and 10-cent store.

The will provides that any remaining income go to such charitable organizations engaged in child welfare work in Newark as the trustee may select. Newark Museum will receive an oil painting of the Madonna which Miss Shugard had in her home at 84 Clinton avenue.

The will, dated December 13, 1941, was presented for probate by George E. Williams, trust officer of National State Bank, named as executor and trustee, and by David Stoffer of the Newark law firm of Stoffer & Jacobs.

Miss Shugard was long a leader in welfare work in the city and was prominent in many charitable and civic movements.

Miss Shugard Rites Private

Old Friend of Family to Conduct Services at Home Tomorrow

Private funeral services for Miss Louise D. Shugard, Newark welfare leader, will be held tomorrow afternoon at her home, 84 Clinton avenue. Rev. F. A. Beatty of New York, a retired clergyman and old friend of the Shugard family, will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Miss Shugard died Saturday in the house where she was born and had lived all her life. Although she was seriously injured six years ago in an automobile accident she continued until her death to take an active interest in the welfare causes to which she devoted her life.

Miss Shugard was associated with the Newark Council of Girl Scouts many years and served as its commissioner from 1930 until her retirement a year ago. At that time she was made honorary commissioner. She had been a member of the board of the East Side Day Nursery and Shelter since 1913 and was a board member and former president of the Friendly Neighborhood House.

Active in Community Chest work, Miss Shugard was a former vice president of the Welfare Federation of Newark and West Hudson, which administers the Chest. She served for 11 years as chairman of the Women's Division of the annual Chest campaign. She was active also in Red Cross work. Miss Shugard was deeply interested in humane treatment of animals and was a former president of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey.

Shelter Named in Honor of Late Miss Shugard

The East Side Day Nursery and Shelter, 317 Elm street, was rededicated yesterday as the Louise D. Shugard Shelter and Day Nursery. The agency was renamed in honor of the late Miss Shugard, former president and board member, whose will provided an annuity of $25,000 a year for its maintenance.

Mrs. A. Edward Zellers, president of the board, paid tribute to Miss Shugard as the new name. Praising her long and devoted service to children, Mrs. Zellers said, "Even death could not prevent her zeal to insure that there would always be a home and love provided for any child, regardless of race, creed or color, who was in need."

Rev. Frederick F. Jenkins of Forest Hill Presbyterian Church, presided at the invocation. About 50 board members and friends attended the ceremony and a tea. The day nursery cares for an average of 85 children a day. The shelter provides temporary care for abandoned children and children of broken homes. The agency was organized as a day nursery in 1905 in a vacant store in Market street and moved to its present quarters in 1917.

In 1918, during the flu epidemic, Miss Shugard started the shelter, which cared for babies whose mothers had died of the disease. A few years later she donated the shelter building adjoining the nursery in Elm street as a memorial to her family.

Miss Shugard, who was active in many civic and charitable causes, died last March 24.

Miss Louise D. Shugard

A RICH and fruitful life has closed with the death of Miss Louise D. Shugard, one of the notable women in Newark's history. She was a person of deep humanity and had limitless compassion for all who suffered or were in distress, humans and animals alike.

Hers was a vivid personality, which expressed itself in striking attire and adornment. She was blunt of speech and could deflate the pretentious with a single pungent phrase, but for the poor, for those who were lonely and unhappy, bequeathed or dispossessed, she had nothing but kindness.

The organizations to which she contributed not only much money but much laborious service, make a long list. She gave them inspiring leadership and wise advice and was particularly effective in fund-raising activities. Men admired her for her directness, her ability to grasp the essentials of a problem and for her hard-won, wisdom adored her for her gentle heart and gracious manners.

Newark, to which she was completely devoted, has lost a good friend and a great lady.

Makes Girl Scouts

Talk of Them, Not Me,
Says Miss Shugard

BY BETSY MORIARTY

"Talk all you want to about the Girl Scouts. Give them a boost. They deserve it. But don't talk about me." So says Miss Louise D. Shugard in discussing her resignation last week as commissioner of Newark Girl Scout Council, a position she had held since 1930. She was unanimously named honorary commissioner by the executive board.

"My whole fondness and good wishes go with the Girl Scouts now just as they did when I was there," declares Miss Shugard. "I want to continue to do everything I can to help them. I only resigned because I can no longer go to meetings."

Injured in Accident

Miss Shugard was badly injured in an automobile accident five years ago, suffering a fractured left leg and right hip, and she has not been able to walk without crutches since. She was hospitalized for several months at 84 Clinton avenue, where she is now confined to one place. Telephones have been placed at strategic spots throughout the house so she can get up with current happenings.

Established comfortably in the large bedroom of her Newark home, Miss Shugard is more than willing to discuss the many charitable agencies in which she has devoted more than 40 years of her life, but repeatedly emphasizes her dislike of personal publicity. "I used to be very social when I was a young girl," she explains. "I used to go to parties and just work and I haven't had anything in the papers about my personal life since. After all, nobody is interested in my comings and goings but myself. I always tell the news people, 'Talk - I'll want to about the work, but don't talk about Louise Shugard.'"

Cheerful

In spite of her crippling illness, Miss Shugard sparkles with zest for life and an all-encompassing interest in humanity. Her blue eyes gleam with intelligence and her frequent laugh is friendly and warm. She still sports her famous collection of diamond rings.

Miss Shugard's bedroom is a true reflection of her personality. Tastefully decorated with a light blue taffeta bedspread and matching curtains, well-filled with furniture, but not overcrowded, it has its hub in the small desk from which Miss Shugard conducts all her business. The desk is covered with papers, but all in neat piles, and nearby are a telephone, a water pitcher, some magazines and newspapers and a box of candy.

The whole room gives the immediate impression of being lived-in and by a person with both good taste and an active life.

"This is the room in which I was born," explains Miss Shugard. "I've always lived here and it was my grandmother's room before she got married. You can feel an atmosphere of happiness all about this house. That's because it's always been lived in."

Animal Pets

When Miss Shugard says "lived in," she says she means that the people there always enjoyed life. She adds:

"We always had animals and we always let them wander all over the house. Why, one winter we had 21 and even the horses came up on the back stoop!"

Miss Shugard still has a dog, a bounding 3-year-old chow named Tubby, who is given free run of the house, and a bird, a macaw named Macdonald, who is taken out of his cage daily to exercise on the sun porch.

"Who'd want a house so orderly that it was dead?" Miss Shugard

To Name Nursery For Miss Shugard

East Side Day Nursery and Shelter, 317 Elm street, will be rededicated to the Louise D. Shugard Shelter and Day Nursery in honor of the late Miss Shugard, former president and board member of the nursery. Mrs. A. Edward Zellers, the nursery's president, announced today that rededication ceremonies will be held October 9 at 4 P. M. Rev. Frederick F. Jenkins, pastor of Forest Hill Presbyterian Church, will conduct the ceremony. A tea will be held for board members and friends afterwards.

Miss Shugard, who died March 24, had been a board member of the nursery since 1913. Her will set up an annuity to provide the nursery with an income of up to $25,000 a year.

Woman Hospitalized After Bus Collision

Mrs. Ella Craig, 83 of 116 South street, suffered a right hip injury last night when the Public Service Route 25 bus in which she was riding was in collision with a car at Hermon and Tichenor streets.

SEP 25 1951

Shugard, Louise D. - S.P.C.A. - 1928-

Shelter Named in Honor of Late Miss Shugard

The East Side Day Nursery and Shelter, 317 Elm street, was rededicated yesterday as the Louise D. Shugard Shelter and Day Nursery. The agency was renamed in honor of the late Miss Shugard, former president and board member, whose will provided an annuity of $25,000 a year for its maintenance.

Mrs. A. Edward Zellers, president of the board, paid tribute to Miss Shugard as the new name plaque at the agency's door was unveiled. Speaking her long and unweary devotion to children, Mrs. Zellers said, "Even death could not still her zeal to insure that there would always be a home and love provided for any child, regardless of race, creed or color, who was in need."

Rev. Frederick F. Jenkins of Forest Hill Presbyterian Church gave the invocation and friends attended the ceremony and a tea.

The day nursery cares for an average of 85 children a day. The shelter provides temporary care for abandoned children and children of broken homes. The agency was organized as a day nursery in 1905 in a vacant store in Market street and moved to its present quarters in 1917.

In 1918, during the flu epidemic, Miss Shugard started the shelter, working by taking in babies whose mothers had died of the disease. A few years later she donated the shelter building, adjoining the nursery in Elm street as a memorial to her family.

Miss Shugard, who was active in many civic and charitable causes, died last March 24.

Miss Louise D. Shugard

A RICH and fruitful life has closed with the death of Miss Louise D. Shugard, one of the notable women in Newark's history. She was a person of deep humanity and had limitless compassion for all who suffered or were in distress, humans and animals alike.

Hers was a vivid personality, which expressed itself in striking attire and adornment. She was blunt of speech and could deflate the pretentious with a single pungent phrase, but for the poor, for those who were lonely and unhappy, beavered or dispossessed, she had nothing but kindness.

The organizations to which she contributed not only much money but much laborious service, make a long list. She gave them inspiring leadership and wise advice and was particularly effective in fund-raising activities. Men admired her for her directness, her ability to grasp the essentials of a problem and for her barbed wit; women adored her for her gentle heart and gracious manners.

Newark, to which she was completely devoted, has lost a good and a great lady.

Makes Girl Scouts Pet Activity

Talk of Them, Not Me, Says Miss Shugard

BY BETSY MORIARTY

"Talk all you want to about the Girl Scouts. Give them a boost. They deserve it. But don't talk about me."

So says Miss Louise D. Shugard in discussing her resignation last week as commissioner of Newark Girl Scout Council, a position she had held since 1930. She was unanimously named honorary commissioner by the executive board.

"My whole fondness and good wishes go with the Girl Scouts now just as they did when I was there," declares Miss Shugard. "I want to continue to do everything I can to help them. I only resigned because I can no longer go to meetings."

Injured in Accident
Miss Shugard was badly injured in an automobile accident five years ago, suffering a fractured left leg and right hip, and she has not been able to walk without crutches since. She has a room reserved in her home at 84 Clinton avenue, there, and her summer home at Avon, so she is not confined to bed. Telephones have been placed in strategic spots throughout the house so she can keep up with current happenings.

Established comfortably in the large bedroom of her Newark home, Miss Shugard is more than willing to discuss the many charitable agencies to which she has devoted more than 40 years of her life, but repeatedly emphasizes her dislike of personal publicity.

"I used to be very social when I was a young girl," she explains. "I used to go to parties and just play. Then I began my charitable work and I haven't had anything in the papers about my personal life since. After all, nobody is interested in my comings and goings. I myself, I always tell the reporters, 'Talk all you want to about the work, but don't talk about Louise Shugard.'"

Cheerful

In spite of her crippling illness, Miss Shugard sparkles with zest for life and an all-encompassing interest in humanity. Her back is firm and straight, her blue eyes gleam with intelligence and her frequent laugh is friendly and warm. She still sports her famous collection of diamond rings.

Miss Shugard's bedroom is a true reflection of her personality. Tastefully decorated with a light blue taffeta bedspread and matching curtains, well-filled with furniture, but not overcrowded, it has its hub in the small desk from which Miss Shugard conducts all her business. The desk is covered with papers, but all in neat piles, and nearby are a telephone, a water pitcher, some magazines and newspapers and a box of candy.

The whole room gives the immediate impression of being lived in and by a person with both good taste and an active life.

"This is the room in which I was born," explains Miss Shugard. "I've always lived here and it was my grandmother's room before she got married. You can feel an atmosphere of happiness all about this house. That's because it's always been lived in."

Animal Pets

"When Miss Shugard says 'lived in,' she says she means that the people there always enjoyed life. She adds:

"We always had animals and we always let them wander all over the house. Why, one time we had 21 cats, three dogs and two horses—and even the horses came up on the back stoop."

Miss Shugard has a dog, a bounding 3-year-old chow named Tubby, who is given free run of the house, and a bird, a macaw named Macaroodle, who is taken out of his cage daily to exercise on the sun porch.

"Who'd want a house so orderly that it was dead?" Miss Shugard

Miss Louise D. Shugard, retiring as active head of Girl Scout Council here after 19 years, has devoted more than 40 years of her life to various community service projects.

scuffs. "Look at those Diffany and Ross now—referring to Henry and Rose Diffany, who were found dead February 1 in their home at 1106 Broad street—why, they were dead long before they really died. Imagine work to another, that's been true before they really died. I aimed and worked for that false died nobody even knew about it!"

Likes People

Miss Shugard has always liked people and feels that this is the

The list of her activities is enough to frighten most average people. Starting with the East Side Day Nursery, which she founded in 1905 and to which she donated the baby shelter, it runs up to a total of more than a dozen charitable organizations, including such groups as the S.P.C.A., Welfare Federation, Newark Music Foundation, as well as the Girl Scouts.

Miss Shugard's biggest single job, and one which she feels wrote into her active career, was directing the women's committee during Newark's centennial celebration in 1926. She says:

"It was a tremendous thing. It went on for a month. I really think that was the thing that did me up. By the time it was over I was so exhausted I had to go to bed for months. I had a wonderful imagination, but I used it all up then. I haven't imagined anything since."

Yet Miss Shugard kept on with her work until the automobile accident and is still vitally interested in activities of her various groups and eager to encourage their promotion. For the Girl Scouts, for instance, she has nothing but praise.

Aid for Children

"I first became interested in the Girl Scouts when I gave a speech at the nursery in 1922," Miss Shugard recalls. "It was called 'The Babies of Tomorrow Will Be the Children of Tomorrow,' and suddenly I realized that I wasn't doing anything to help those children of tomorrow."

There were no Girl Scouts in Newark at that time and Miss Shugard helped organize the first group of girls and now the organization has grown to one that runs two Summer camps," she declares proudly. "Camp Kalmia in Blairtown—that's the finest there is and those two lovely cabins in Scotch Mountain reservation—you should see them!"

"We started with a very small group of girls and now the organization has grown to one that runs two Summer camps," she declares proudly. "Camp Kalmia in Blairtown—that's the finest there is and those two lovely cabins in Scotch Mountain reservation—you should see them!"

Summer Recreation
The two cabins, one of which was donated by Miss Shugard, are used by Newark girls for short periods during Summer. Transportation is provided by the Red Cross and private individuals.

"Originally the cabins were only used week-ends," Miss Shugard explains. "Then, when I thought of all those children playing in the hot streets, I said to myself, 'This is an outrage, letting those cabins so unused.' So we hired a director and two assistants and started sending the children up during the week, as well."

Miss Shugard likes to point out that Girl Scout training stresses feminine abilities, such as house-keeping and gardening.

"Men should give more money to the Girl Scouts," she says, adding to find wives for their wonderful Boy Scout sons if they don't help provide scout training for girls, too."

In fact, the only reason Miss Shugard consented to talk to a reporter now was to boost the Girl Scouts. And she kept repeating: "They deserve to be talked about. I don't."

P. S.—Forgive us, Miss Shugard, for talking just a little about you. But we think that will help the Girl Scouts, too!