Mrs. D. Williams Of Orange Dies

Mrs. Mildred Morris Williams of 208 Cleveland St., Orange, wife of Dyrwood B. Williams, died at her home yesterday of a long illness. Mrs. Williams, a teacher in the Newark school system, was born in Newark and had lived here until 12 years ago when she moved to Orange.

She was graduated from Union State College, formerly Newark State Teachers College, and held a master's degree from Seton Hall University. She taught the first grade at Abington Avenue School until she became ill.

She had been organist at Pilgrim Baptist Church, Newark, and was a member of the St. Anne's Guild at St. Philip's Episcopal Church, also Newark.

Also surviving are her mother, Mrs. Estelle Morris of Orange; a brother, Kenneth Morris of Springfield Gardens, L.I., and a number of foster brothers, Leroy F. Morris of Newark and Perry C. Morris.

Services will be tomorrow at St. Philip's Church.
